Vera

Vera, Feb. 15.- We are certainly having the coldest weather of the winter. It really seems February is giving us worse weather than January.

All of the neighbors around Vera do certainly hate to see the Revs and Mrs. J. P. Leitner go to his new field. They will be greatly missed by their many friends. We hope that he may do as much for his new church as he has for his churches on this field. With best wishes for them.

The woman's W. M. U. Society of New Hope Church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Harvey on Wednesday night. We had a good crowd and a good program. Everyone seemed to enjoy being together. The only sad part of it was losing one of our best members and president, Mrs. F. J. Leitner. We hated to have to give her up.

G. F. ABBITT, JR. ADDRESSES CLOVER HILL DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Clover Hill Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. James Conner, with Mrs. Elliott Torrence serving as co-hostess. Fourteen members and two visitors were present.

The president, Mrs. Russell Conner, presided. A brief talk on "Good grooming" was given by Mrs. A. F. Godsey. The Federation Goal committee reported plans for each month to increase, first, a better understanding of duties as citizens, and second, our awareness of world affairs.

Highlight of the evening was a talk by G. F. Abbitt, Jr. on the subject, "Wills and Deeds." Mr. Abbitt stressed the importance of acquiring a clear title to property and also advised everyone, not only to make a will, but to have a competent person write the will and see that it is legal. He illustrated his point by citing an instance where one word in a will which was written by the deceased caused a great deal of trouble and expense, because it could not be legally defined. A discussion followed, in which Mr. Abbitt answered questions concerning property settlement.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Miss June Conner and Mrs. J. L. Torrence.

DEMOCRACY WORKSHOP AT WILLIAMSBURG

Williamsburg, Va., Feb. 15.- Several hundred Virginia high school students will be in attendance for the summary sessions of the Democracy Workshop here Saturday afternoon.

The sessions, which will include a dramatic presentation featuring the four national winners of the Voice of Democracy Contest, will be held in the auditorium of the Matthew Whaley School here beginning at 2 P. M. Saturday. The program will be open to the general public and a number of Virginia schools already have indicated that they will send sizable delegations to sit in on the discussions.

Questions and comments will be invited from the floor during part of each roundtable during the afternoon. In the two 35-minute panels the Voice of Democracy Contest winners from 35 states will wind up their discussion of the subject, "Is the Bill of Rights Out of Date?" starting Saturday morning in the Wren Building of the College of William and Mary. The panels will be moderated by Cabell Phillips, of The New York Times, and Howland Sargeant, President of the American Committee for Liberation from Bolshevism, and will inclue the participating guest authorities.

A band concert will be given from 1:30 to 2:00 P. M. Saturday just before the start of the roundtable discussion with music by an Army band from Fort Eustis.

The roundtable discussions are the highlight activity of the national youth forum which is held here each year by Colonial Williamsburg for winners of the Voice of Democracy Contest.

COOPERATIVE AGREEMENT WITH FOREST SERVICE

The Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries felicitates the U. S. Forest Service on the celebration of its golden anniversary in 1955. For nearly 20 years the Commission has been working under a cooperative agreement that has been recognized throughout the United States as the most constructive wildlife development and management program in the country, according to C. F. Phelps, chief of the Game Division.

With A. H. Anderson as supervisor of the George Washington National Forest and George B. P. Mullin as supervisor of the Jefferson National Forest, and their able co-workers and assistants, Virginia is right in the midst of the development of as fine game lands as can be found in the eastern United States, Phelps said. Our game technicians and game managers work closely with U. S. Forest Service officials in habitat development and the management of the ever growing deer herds, wild turkey, bear, grouse and other species of game commonly found in the forests and meadowlands of Virginia.

Appomattox is a growing town.

Chicago.- "Underprivileged" dairy cows have proven themselves to be the equal of their "socialite" sisters when it comes to converting plant matter and water into rich, nourishing milk.

The dairy cows subsisting "on greener pastures' will need less land for their feed supply but pail for pail, the bovine gal from the wrong side of the tracks who grazes on badly depleted farm land will still give milk just as nutritious as that "well kept woman" across the way.

These facts stem from announcement of results of a ten-year soil fertility study conducted at Michigan State College.
